TROELS BYSKOV

INTRODUCTION

DEDICATED MEDIA STUDENT READY FOR CHALLENGES

I have always been very analytical which made media studies the right choice for me. Here I have built a strong knowledge of and experience with quantitative as well as qualitative user surveys and analyses – both online and offline. I am, furthermore, a strong communicator and have built a big knowledge of business communication through my minor in international communication. I am, therefore, both strong analytically and able to create an overview of big user surveys as well as being great at communicating this knowledge – both in speech and writing.

My academic and theoretical foundation is supported by a great practical experience from my jobs where clear communication – both between colleagues and to customers – have been of big importance. Additionally, I have a self-imposed interest in learning more by attending various courses and through the construction of my own web page.
